With this software you can start application in the same window, open a file, process, system function, script, exit the editor, execute a command in a separate window, paste the output from a command, using a url, convert URLs to a file system path, using a tool or timerun. With the Command line interface you can easily install, uninstall, use, uninstall or uninstall. You can quickly navigate and execute files, urls, commands, or any logical expression. Using it you will be able to quickly operate a computer more effective. The activity of the software can be described as follows: at the beginning, the program gathers all the information about the computer hardware, the current working directory and other similar information. The next step is to see if the user has a particular CD in drive. If not, the next step will be to install it. If the CD or DVD is already installed, then the software will identify the file "autorun.inf", which is a file which contains a table, where the next software to be launched will be. If the user has not installed the tool, it will try to install it. If the installation failed, the user is warned and can try again. If the installation was successful, then the system is rebooted and the program is ready. The software tries to make the user aware of the fact that it is running. If it was successful, the software proceeds to check if the "silent mode" is set, and if it is disabled, the system goes to the menu and asks the user to deactivate it. If the user has not deactivated it,
