A: There is not enough information here to really tell what the issue is with the image, but the code that was posted appears to be valid. However, I would consider removing any code that has the file extension.SVG as this is just a bunch of unnecessary bloat in the code and it will only cause problems. This is especially true when it is not even needed. As a suggestion, try removing the code for the logo in the header as well. if ($_GET['imgf']) { $_SESSION['firstimage'] =
