Prince Melker Prince Melker (foaled 16 February 1990) was an Irish Thoroughbred racehorse and sire. As a juvenile he raced exclusively in France where he was a moderate success as a three-year-old and won the Prix de l'Abbaye. He showed little promise as a four-year-old, but took his chances when he ran the Prix des Petits Freres in the spring and won at his second attempt. He was rated the best European two-year-old of 1992 and was made the inaugural champion in France over 2,400 metres at Longchamp. He did not race again and was retired from racing at the end of the year. He had some influence as a breeding stallion in both Ireland and the United States. His most successful offspring was the German-bred Dirt Palace who won the Golden Slipper Stakes and finished third in the International Stakes. Background Prince Melker was a bay horse with a white blaze and two long white socks bred by his owner, Aga Khan IV. He was from the second crop of foals sired by the Prix de l'Arc de Triomphe winner Flamingo and was the first foal of his dam Melangen. She had been an excellent racehorse, winning the Prix Vermeille in 1985 and being placed in the Prix de Diane and the Prix de la Forêt in France. Melangen was bought as a broodmare for the Aga Khan IV in the early 1980s by the leading British trainer Henry Herbert "Harry" Herbert. At the end of her racing career she was sent to the United States to be covered by the American breeding stallion Domino Duke, who became an influential sire of American racehorses. Herbert was an advocate of the sport of racing and had very little formal training himself. He did not conduct thoroughbred racing in England, but attended his horses' races in France, Ireland, New Zealand and Dubai. The Aga Khan maintained a breeding base in the United States at his stud at Darley Park in Kentucky where his horses were sent to race. Racing career 1993: three-year-old season Prince Melker did not race as a two-year-old and his first run as a three-year-old was as a gelding in the Prix de l'Abbaye over 2000 metres on heavy ground at Saint-Cloud Racecourse on 4 October in which he
