This is my second game, but first with Jetpack. Playing as Jack, you are required to make your way through the level, going as fast as you can! Enemies will appear and if they catch you, your game will be over. To avoid these enemies, you need to activate the jetpack. The jets are simply a collection of stars and you need to fly to them. Once on the jets, you can fly much faster. The farther you get, the faster you get, but the harder it becomes to use them effectively. Enemies can still catch you, so be careful. With the correct use of the jetpack, you should be able to make it through the level. But, if you get caught, the game is over. And it's about time to start over! Controls are not hard to figure out, you just need to play the level a few times to master them. The game lasts about 30 minutes and while it's enjoyable, it's not a long game, but it's not short either. And the more players there are, the more points you will get, which will unlock more levels and make the game longer. WELCOME TO ASSASSINS MISSION!!! This is a very simple, easy to pick up game with challenging objectives. Basically you have to play as the assassin who is hired by the owner of the company to eliminate the CEO of his enemy. The assassins mission is to carry out your missions. You are playing as an assassin who can use a knife to kill people. To play you need to turn left, turn right, jump, open doors and when you get a target you can stab it. After hitting the target, you can see a meter on the top right. That means that your mission is complete. You can also take some bombs from the a bomb place to destroy the object. To kill someone you need to take a knife and press X to use it. But you have to be careful not to kill yourself or your target. It is also possible to die without taking a knife, if you press a button too fast. The missions will change depending on the time of the day. Before starting the missions you need to be in the room of the reception and find the exit. As soon as you exit the game you are a successful mission. It is also possible to fail if you kill the boss or if you take too many bombs. POWER-Ups are added to your weapons. You can also choose your power up by pressing the left button

; Main Menu Moon Trojan Horse SETI and the old Moon Hoax This article, co-written by Bill Hartmann, profiled a fascinating conspiracy theory of alleged moons of Jupiter, goes into a lot of detail, and details the many reasons why it is thoroughly debunked. Written by Bill Hartmann, professor of engineering, National Aeronautics and Space Administration training officer and remote sensing specialist. The MoonHoax.com Web site claims that there is an audio and visual decoy satellite on the Moon. The decoy claims that it was launched by the U.S. government in 1955; therefore, the Moon was inhabited by Martians, who landed equipment, and set up base on the Moon's Mare Crisium. The purpose of the decoy, it is claimed, was to gather secrets about Russian nuclear rockets. To test the belief that the Soviets have a base on the Moon and that they are building their rocket designs based upon the data they secretly gleaned, the plan, it is said, was to launch a decoy U.S. satellite into lunar orbit. The decoy was to transmit data back to Earth by radio telemetry. The MoonHoax.com Web site points out that, because of the difference between the Moon's gravitational pull on the decoy and on Earth, the transmitted data would be distorted by seventy-three decibels, or -12.6 logarithmic units. Although the Moon's actual gravitational force on the decoy, it claims, was no greater than that on Earth, the transmitted data would be distorted by an average of -200 db, which is out of operational range of all contemporary receivers. The MoonHoax.com Web site maintains that no one within the United States or any other country has ever seen or heard the decoy. This article takes an in-depth look at the story that, over a period of many years, has been repeated, embellished, and made more ridiculous by the media. Note that this is not a talkback question, and you will get unwanted off-topic material. To comply with this forum, just tell us how old you are, where you live, and what you know about this. Of course, you can tell us what you will discuss with the public at large, but you must discuss the correct topic, please. To recap just a few of the facts, in 1954, the Army Ballistic Missile Agency (ABMA), a part
