We are glad to announce a collaboration with the legendary game Youxi'. The game will release on February 28, 2020. ----- 3rd Eye Mental Dimension Funny blood... ----- Youxi' Collaboration The game will release on Feb 28th, 2020! Players will be able to enjoy Youxi' in 3D! But because it's a collaborative project, We think we'll be able to leave some room for both kinds of Youxi' Players. So, we'll be releasing it in 2D, and a type of 3D version... There's the Official 3D Youxi', which you can play by yourself. The Youxi' is the 3D version that can only be played by a friend, and that's why we would like to release it as a 2D edition. How is it with Youxi' on Famitsu? Yes, 2D Youxi' is something that hasn't been heard before! As 2D Youxi' requires players to cooperate with a partner, we hope you'll have fun with your friends. Would Youxi' Fans ever consider a 2D collaborative project? If there's something about it that you love, there's always a chance. The most important thing is whether we can find a path to make that fun, and I think we're doing that. Chou Meiwa has designed a lot of wonderful games. They're all a little bit different, but one thing that they have in common is that they all aim to be fun for the player. It's the same with Youxi'. I think we can do something good with that. Sorry for keeping you waiting a bit. The Youxi' collaboration was already in the works. With it, we hope to put an end to the long wait for a collaboration game that came out as close to a direct sequel as possible, and I hope that you'll enjoy the game with your friends. If we get enough fan support, we might even release the 2D and 3D versions as separate games. I hope you'll be looking forward to the 3D Youxi' as a friend of the 2D version! Thanks for the support as we work our best to make a game with you in mind. See ya around! ----- CANCELLED... We've been searching for a game about the Second Coming of Christ. And we really love the kind of

This place was recommended by a good friend that I trust and who said they have an appropriate board for cats, especially the big ones. The boarding is very close to the airport and is easier than visiting the kennels. Gusty enjoys chatting with her patrons and has adopted our teenage son to the task of keeping her company, and he takes good care of her. So two thumbs up for Gusty's boarding. In fact, one of our cats spends weeknights at Gusty's in the cat carrier. You do have to sign a waiver but they only take cash for payment. We have a while go yet to add more money to our account (we are still on the free days!). Don't know if they get that thing with the credit card that they use at the pay stations at the airport! We had a boarding experience with Gusty's and we were very happy with the boarding facility. Our "man" cat and mom cat got top-quality attention from the staff, in spite of being regular flyers. The food, as well as housing and breakfasts, were excellent. In spite of my calling around to boarders like Promises and Chicago Cats, Gusty's surpassed everything else I tried. I truly believe that the owner and staff really care about the cats they hold and the cats that board there. If you have cats that need a place to go, please check Gusty's out. My girlfriend and I recently boarded our first cat with Gusty's. They have a shuttle and it's a nice place to board. Gusty's also is a good place to board if you are flying out of PIT or MSY as the boarding is next door. The staff and owner make you feel very welcome and we were able to pick her up after her flight. Gust c9d1549cdd

What's new in Creatures Such As We:

Interactive is returning to Europe this summer to bring you “Forbidden Island,” a huge real life game featuring a myriad of crazy puzzles! To celebrate the event, we’ve got a huge, new edition of the Ape In The Valley diaries, this time giving you the inside scoop from the first few days of playing! We’ll also be doing a diary on the game itself as the event goes on, so stay tuned! Kathleen Ashman: The first puzzle that I encountered in “Forbidden Island”, a huge real life game with PSF that opens this July, was a construction puzzle where I had to build a wall that was tall enough to just barely be able to fit a golf ball between the tip of the ridge to the tip of the mountain. I looked it up and found a perfect example of how this puzzle would appear. This puzzle alone took me a few times of back and forth trying to achieve, and once it was completed it really made the real life game feel that much more real! Stewart Johnstone: Following up on Kathleen, my first trick was solving the aforementioned construction puzzle and it was over in a matter of minutes. It feels like the puzzle level in “Forbidden Island” is designed to be completed in a single session. Diego Acevedo: My trick was more of a triple in “Forbidden Island,” as I solved three puzzles in one sitting. The first puzzle involved moving a giant boulder in a straight line toward a specific area. I'd trick my friends into posing as boulders and scare them by posing as a boulder. The second challenge was a dog eat dog puzzle where one person is the dog and the other must remain on their feet so that they don't get gobbled up. The third puzzle involved using a rope to pull a spot of mud left by a bird in the swamp to create a bridge that led to the next puzzle. Joe McNally: My trick was definitely the muligineous puzzle that involved a few different tasks. I got to realize a mans dream of a granny house on a block of land made out of puzzles. You could put in some TLC and update the antique house after you solve the puzzles. Maybe even add a pool as long as we are bitching about “Forbidden Island.” Brando Cooper: The fourth puzzle that I tackled would be my trick. The giant
