Recent studies have suggested that the cancer risk assessment questionnaire (CRAQ-8) might be a simple and effective tool to predict survival in patients with metastatic renal cell carcinoma (mRCC). However, it is unclear whether the simple 8-item questionnaire can be used for the prediction of prognosis in patients with mRCC. The aim of this study was to determine the prognostic value of the CRAQ-8 score on survival in patients with mRCC. The CRAQ-8 score was evaluated in 154 patients with mRCC (median follow-up, 44.1 months), Progression-free survival (PFS) and overall survival (OS) were calculated using Kaplan-Meier analyses and a Cox proportional hazards model. In the multivariate analyses, the CRAQ-8 score was a significant independent prognostic factor for PFS (hazard ratio = 1.94, P Thanks to everyone for your participation!
