

Elden Ring is the latest fantasy action role-playing game developed by NCSOFT. It was released on Windows PC on November 17, 2014. It is currently in development for PlayStation 4 and Xbox One. Elden Ring, as the title suggests, is a game about the Lands Between, the Lands Between the worlds of mortals and the spirits of the Gods. In this fantasy world, known as the "darkling," warriors wield the power of the Elden Ring, a sacred relic that provides the power to perform miracles. The world of Elden Ring is like a wild and untamed place. Lands Between civilizations, like the world of gods, the mighty Elden, and monsters known as Beastmen, are all in continuous battle. In this world, who will take this power after the golden age of Elden? The game offers the brand new fantasy adventure of an online fantasy action role-playing game in the future. The game is set in the middle of the Lands Between, and players start as a member of the realm of mortals. After the calamity known as the Darkness, a set of evil beings known as the Beastmen emerged from the darkness and spread across the lands. The Beastmen infiltrated the realm of God, the Elden Ring, and from there, began to overthrow the darklings and create a new age of Elden. Players who start a game as a character from the realm of mortals go through a number of events in order to rise to power as an Elden lord. Elden Ring features dynamic scenarios, and the story of the game progresses as a sequel that loosely connects the various thoughts of each of the characters. According to the FAO, in 2013, Egypt consumed 23,050 tonnes of beef, about 73.4 percent of which was from cattle, according to FAO data. The industry also exports live cattle, frozen meat and beef products. Egypt exported 40,000 head of cattle to China in 2013. Egypt is also the largest importer of beef in the Arab region. The AIB said, "Based on the region's heavy reliance on imports and poor domestic meat processing, this has become an unsustainable industry, which has led to a loss of capacity for small meat processors. As a result, a number of small traders are going out of business and the number of slaughtered cattle per month is on the rise. "The industry has been unable to register any growth over the past decade and all sectors have been stagnant." According to the AIB, the Egyptian meat market is vastly underdeveloped with sales estimated at $84 million in 2013, while the market is growing at 10 percent. The industry comprises mostly butchers and street meat sellers, with only about 2 percent of meat production geared to exporters. The AIB said, "There have been a number of attempts at developing the meat sector, with Egyptian authorities in the past trying to bring in large meat processing plants, but nothing has materialised and even state-run restaurants in Cairo are under the constant threat of closure." Meat exports to the US in 2013 totaled $39.4 million (23.5 million USD), according to the AIB. There are four different types of meat market in Egypt: - the butcher; - the semi-licensed meat trader; - the exp
