(Courtesy FIFA/Electronic Arts) "We are excited to see the results from the FIFA U-17 World Cup," said Nick Chiat, Co-Founder and President of EA SPORTS. "We have our own team of motion capture artists, athletes, FIFA community game developers, and enthusiasts that work tirelessly, listening to the U.S. Youth national team's feedback and testing for more than 90 hours in order to create the most realistic football possible. This data will be used to improve gameplay and make the most authentic and precise experience possible in FIFA 22." The squad of highly skilled and experienced athletes, including national teamers such as Jordan Morris, Sean Johnson, Christian Pulisic, Lynden Gooch, Tyler Adams and Christian Roldan, were identified by a panel of four former players and coaches from the U.S. U-17 Men's National Team. All of them were selected based on their experience with the youth team, their popularity with the fans, impact on the game and potential to contribute to the U.S. U-17 Men's National Team over the next four years. On March 22, the U.S. U-17 Men's National Team hosted more than 160 academy teams from 50 U.S. states and Canada, as well as the Cayman Islands, who took part in the FIFA U-17 World Cup North America Qualifiers in Bradenton, Florida. The tournament featured 26 matches across five venues, with the U.S. capturing the bronze medal behind England and France after defeating Chile 4-0 in the Final. The U.S. U-17 Men's National Team has already qualified for the FIFA U-17 World Cup Chile 2019. The U.S. U-17 Men's National Team will take part in the FIFA U-17 World Cup Qatar 2019 from Sept. 7-Oct. 7, as the USA seeks its first U-17 World Cup title. FIFA 22 will be released worldwide on Sept. 6.Q: Why was a certain piece of the chuja explicitly ordered by Tsar Alexis?
