Framework systems for supporting suspended wall panels such as Venetian blinds in a framework which includes V-shaped suspension rails on which individual slats of blind material can be supported are known in the art. It is also known to provide a flexible flat support bar to which the slats can be suspended by means of elastomeric bands attached to the slats. It would be desirable to reduce the complexity of wall panel frameworks and to reduce the amount of tools and man hours required for use of such frameworks. Effect of temozolomide on the natural killer cell activity and circulating cytokine levels in patients with glioblastoma. The anticancer effects of temozolomide (TMZ), a DNA methylating agent, are attributed to its toxicity against malignant glioma cells and its efficiency in inducing autologous tumor-antigen-specific T-cell responses in patients with glioblastoma. The NK cell cytotoxicity assay is a standard test for evaluating the intrinsic anticancer activity of new compounds. This study was designed to investigate the effects of TMZ on the NK cell activity and circulating cytokine profiles in patients with glioblastoma. A total of 18 patients who were treated with the standard TMZ regimen of 75-100 mg/m<sup>2</sup> daily for 7 days/week were enrolled in this study. In addition to the standard TMZ regimen, seven patients were randomly assigned to be given TMZ for 3 weeks with granulocyte-colony-stimulating factor (G-CSF) support to potentiate the recovery of peripheral blood leukocytes. The patients in the G-CSF subgroup were given 300 µg/kg G-CSF subcutaneously twice daily on days 7 to 14. The serum levels of the following cytokines, among others, were assayed using enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay kits: interleukin-2 (IL-2), IL-4, IL-6, IL-8, IL-10, IL-12, interferon-gamma, TNF-alpha, G-CSF, and macrophage-colony- 595f342e71
