Cellphone-Free Nighttime Driving Is Easier With Lumi® Headlamps. Read More. People coming from phones into kids' bedrooms at night may be the culprit; or a bright lamp; say, under a picnic table; can cause sleep disorders for kids. Studies have shown that bright light at night suppresses the secretion of melatonin, a hormone that's produced by the body's pituitary gland, which is what makes you sleepy. It's important for children's sleep health that they spend their nights in a dimly lit bedroom. If you're a parent or caregiver of a child who may be experiencing sleep problems, we have some tips to help them. Even if your children's bedrooms have a light bulb that's kept on permanently or on some timers, you can help prevent your kids from waking in the night with a dimmed lamp. It's important to talk to your kids about this and get them to tell you if they know they may be waking at night and how often. Keep in mind that many children may not think they are waking in the night, even if they're often able to hear a creaking bed, knocking on the door or a dog barking. If your child sleeps in the basement or a very quiet area, then it's best to place a lamp or light in your child's room, but keep it low and dim. Good night, morning, or daytime sleep. Lumi® Headlamps. Lumi® Headlamps are versatile for nighttime use with kids. They have a wide range of light settings, to help you adjust it for a variety of situations. Programmable and 2-way power. And they're tiny. They're easier to install and don't take up much space. And, you can get them at your local Walmart in the Christmas or holiday aisle or order them online for anywhere between $30 and $40. Buy a Lumi® Headlamp. Lumi®

Headlamps are easy to use. They don't need batteries. They have 2-way power, so they work whether they're hung or placed on a wall or surface. There are five light settings and you can even choose the intensity of the light. You can
