2. Adobe Lightroom Adobe Lightroom is a photo editing software which can be used by photographers, graphic designers and web designers to organize and edit photos. It is a multi-tabbed photo management software. Lightroom is also used to post pictures on the web. It has been available for Windows, Mac, iOS and Android users. Adobe Lightroom allows multiple users to access, edit, download and share your photos simultaneously. It stores your photos in a database and it can import new photos from your cameras, memory cards, phones or other devices. You can apply correction filters, adjust brightness, contrast, white balance and color balance, remove red eye, fix minor blemishes, and even improve photos using special effects such as “color burn” or “saturation”. 3. Apple’s Preview Preview is one of the many tools available in Apple’s desktop operating system. It is an image viewing application, and can also be used to edit images. Preview supports popular image formats including BMP, GIF, JPEG, RAW, TIFF, and PNG. It is free, meaning users do not need to purchase or license the software. It supports resolutions up to 2,048×2,048, and can resize images to any size. Users can also preview and edit PDF documents and Microsoft Office files in both Windows and macOS. Preview supports some built-in image editing tools, including opening images in their original aspect ratio or to fit a square view. Users can add annotations to images, adjust the sharpness, contrast, brightness or hue of the picture. 4. iPhoto iPhoto is one of Apple’s applications which can be used to edit images. It includes a small set of basic tools such as, image adjustment, cropping, adding text, and basic effects like vignettes, gradients, and frames. iPhoto can also export and share your photos. Additionally, it can import images from a range of sources, including RAW files, scanners and cameras. You can select an image by the application and use its editing tools, adjust the brightness, contrast and white balance. iPhoto supports a range of image formats. 5. iPhoto for iCloud iPhoto for iCloud gives users access to some of Apple’s photo editing tools on iCloud. 05a79cecff

Q: Filter List for duplicate Item-Collections Let's say I have the following list: `a_list = [['ItemA', 'item_a_id1'], ['ItemB', 'item_b_id2'], ['ItemC', 'item_c_id3'], ['ItemC', 'item_c_id4']]` I want to get a list of unique item-collections, i.e. `[['ItemA', 'item_a_id1'], ['ItemB', 'item_b_id2']]` I can list the items and their ids using the following method: `for list in a_list: for item in list: print(item, list) print('-----' * 20)` prints out: ItemA ['item_a_id1'] ----- ItemB ['item_b_id2'] ----- ItemC ['item_c_id3', 'item_c_id4'] ----- However, I can't seem to figure out the syntax to filter for duplicates. Is there any filter that works on dictionaries to check for duplicates in a collections? A: You can use set to get a hashable object. `unique_list = [item for item in a_list for item in item]` If `a_list` is a list of dicts, you can use a list comprehension for that: `unique_list = [item for item in a_list for item in item if list(item) == list(item)]` Q: What should you do with the fee from your contest? So I ran a wifi network with a 7$ wifi antenna and it seems like the people who want to advertise don't want to pay the $5 fee to the FCC to run a contest on it. It's not such a big deal, and I'm sure that this wouldn't happen if people would pay the fee, but I was wondering if anyone has some insight into how to handle this. I was thinking of just not taking the fee. Is this a problem I'd need to go to court over? Or is this handled already by the FCC? I'd appreciate some insight. Thanks! A: If you do

Q: Is it possible to bind to a list of ui elements? I have a class which is the owner of an object in WPF. Now there is a ui control that is being used that has a collection of ui elements which the user can add to and remove from. I don't want to bind to the whole collection as there is a lot of data in there and I don't need all of it. So is it possible to bind to just a list of the ui elements to this list? A: No, there is no collection view in WPF. If you want to store items within your own collection, you can use a List in your class (or maybe just a List and work with that). [unreadable] [unreadable] The applicant, Prasanta Kumar Mishra, M.D., Ph.D., has demonstrated a commitment to the development of novel diagnostic tests for pulmonary and gastrointestinal disorders. His laboratory developed a two-phase ELISA-based immunoassay to determine the duration and severity of post-myocardial infarction (MI) gastroparesis. The sample collection time in the index study is most important since the method is based on recovery of gastric secretions. In addition, the samples are collected as early as 24 hours after MI, and in the recovery phase post-MI. The duration of this phase can be determined with this method. It remains unclear, however, if acute gastric injury post-MI is present in all patients, in a particular phase, or in both phases. The planned product, GastroMark, would provide a single measurement of the intensity of intestinal inflammation to be used as a surrogate for the severity and duration of gastroparesis in patients with acute MI. GastroMark has a number of advantages over current clinical tests. GastroMark is performed at the bedside and does not require anesthesia, and it can be done at any time during the diagnostic evaluation of an acute coronary syndrome. GastroMark would be able to clearly identify patients with the most severe disease so that more aggressive treatment options can be utilized. [unreadable] [unreadable] Given the impact of cardiogenic gastrointestinal (GI) symptoms on both the patient's quality of life and healthcare resource utilization, GastroMark has the potential to have a significant impact on the health of patients with these complications. Dr. Mishra proposes to add in phase II
