The eraser works like a typewriter, removing layers of color and transparency and gently affecting underlying layers. It can be used to eliminate busy areas or to reestablish image balance. A gradient is a color pattern in which one hue or color gradually changes to the next. Gradients are often used to add depth and texture to an image. The default gradient in Photoshop is a radial gradient which creates a ring of colors that vary in intensity depending on how close they are to the center of the photo. Adobe Photoshop Extended includes a set of powerful editing tools that work similar to the one included in Photoshop CS4. Once you learn to use Photoshop, it becomes quite easy to create pretty complex retouching effects from scratch. Since Photoshop CS4, Adobe Photoshop has included a powerful selection tool called the Magic Wand. The Magic Wand is a fast and easy way to select one or more objects in a picture. The following post will teach you how to use Photoshop's selection tool to select and then modify an image. Adobe Photoshop CS5 While you cannot edit the shape of a Photoshop element in the same way you can do in Illustrator and InDesign, there are several steps you can take to give your element(s) the look of a logo. These include: background removal, outlining a shape, and adding a spot color. The following section walks you through the process of giving any image a professional look.Shareholders of companies controlled by convicted Ponzi schemer Charles Ponzi have won the right to sue executives in civil court over losses tied to Bernard Madoff. Lawyers for Charles Ponzi's widow and grandchildren persuaded the U.S. Supreme Court on Thursday to review a single issue: whether shareholders of companies owned by Bernard Madoff's convicted Ponzi scheme can sue executives of those companies in state civil court. A federal appeals court in New York last year dismissed similar claims brought by Ponzi investors. Those investors were seeking to pursue claims against executives of Ponzi's companies, including a company that was part of a complex web of trusts and investment vehicles that allegedly used Ponzi money to buy stakes in other companies. Ponzi's companies were in different types of trusts, some of which were set up by his law firm, others of which were created by Madoff himself. The decision by the court to review the case could have broader implications, given that Madoff's

In a Facebook video, the GSP said it was searching for 14-year-old Mackenzie Smith. She was abducted by her parents Saturday night, May 19, from a secluded campground near Forsyth, Georgia. Smith's parents were driving her home when their car broke down and stopped at a store. The girl was able to sneak out of the car and run into the woods. "I ask that if you see something, say something," the GSP said. "This is a dangerous situation we are working. Please stay out of the area." The child was last seen wearing red shorts, a purple shirt, a black hoodie and pink flip-flops. The GSP described the father as a white, male, in his mid-20s, with a skinny build. He has black hair and brown eyes. He is four feet, 10 inches tall. The mother is a white female, in her mid-20s with long brown hair. She has brown eyes and is five feet, eight inches tall. She has a slender build. "The father has two tattoos on his left forearm, the first being '1.9' and the second is an unknown number. The mother has a small star tattooed on her shoulder," the GSP said. Smith's parents are being described as "dangerous" and police said they should not be approached if they see them or their vehicle. Anyone with information about their whereabouts is asked to call 911. In a separate incident, a 24-year-old man was shot and killed Tuesday night,
