To unravel the spatial organization of the different dehalogenation systems in Dehalococcoides spp. and better understand their mechanistic control, a single dehalococcoides genome was sequenced for the first time. Analysis of the genome sequence revealed high gene copy numbers of genes encoding dehalogenases, i.e. reductive dehalogenases, for dehalococcoides VC and strain 195. This indicates the presence of multiple dehalogenase gene clusters encoding the dehalogenases from the CBDB family in these strains. The overall genomic organization was similar to that of other members of the Desulfurococcales, a group of geochemically diverse sulfate-reducing bacteria. Southern blot analysis revealed strain VC strain 195 and Desulfitobacterium dehalogenans show higher copy numbers of a dehalogenase gene (vhbD) than other dehalococcoides such as Dehalobacter dehalogenans. To understand the spatial organization of reductive dehalogenase, mono- and dioxygenase gene loci, the gene products of which are involved in dehalogenation, were analyzed. A cis-acting gene cluster for the induction of the dehalogenation metabolism was identified upstream of the reductive dehalogenase gene locus in strain VC, further suggesting that brominated haloacetic acids, but not dehaloccohalogenics, are utilized as a carbon and energy source.Q: how to get the top X results per each year in SQL Server 2008 using two conditions I have a table that contains two columns, I need to get the top 2 results per each year and the field is placed in both columns.
