"Experience life as an Immigrant, Refugee or Black African in a Rich Country, starting in a third world Country and take your journey to The United States of America. Your True Journey will then be just Starting." You start your journey in the African country of Limbe, whose capital is the city of Limbe. To make the journey of your life to the rich land of the United States of America you will need to cross many obstacles along the way, while at the same time you need to navigate through a job market where every job is gruelling and all of them are competitive. Your Chance of being successful depends greatly on the economic crisis that is happening in Africa. Remember to meet all the requirements of your new country, and eventually you'll be able to cross the border from your third world Country to the land of unlimited opportunities the United States. Your True Journey will be just Starting... Your path will be full of Obstacles, pitfalls and monetary pressure, but this is a journey that you have to take and the most important thing is to enjoy your way through it. The American dream is within your reach, but you have to make sure that the path that you want to walk on is a true path of fulfilment. The system of the game is based on his many years of experience with players, and now you are the first to have the opportunity to live the American Dream from the perspective of an Immigrant or Refugee, but in the same time, gaining the total perspective of the immigrant's experience. RULES: The player has to cope with the monetary aspect, decision making aspects and the time limit aspect of the game. The player has to make sure that he meets all the requirements of his new home country. The player has to earn the necessary money to move forward and to start his new life. The player needs to survive in the harsh environment and in any case he should do all he can to make it through the Journey. Your choices while playing the game have a direct effect on your character's life, and this can be good and bad. "Your choices in the game are in real life the same choices that your ancestors have taken when they were first faced with having to migrate to another country. We wanted to recreate, in a very real way, what your life will be like in a few years, once you have made your way to the land of opportunity." As in the case of your ancestors, you need to be careful with what you eat c9d1549cdd facility, and all that remains are computers and other electrical equipment. You appear to be the only survivor. Somehow you've managed to keep running and gathered a collection of electronic devices for use in this world. The dungeon, for lack of a better word, is divided into two sections. The first is a lab. In this area you will find the generators, electrical equipment, and storage for medical supplies. These are all the things that you will need to make the first very, very primitive flashlight. You will need to make the light if you want to save yourself from the various monsters and creatures that lurk in the darkness. Just remember that the batteries that power the flashlight will run out eventually and you'll be running around in the dark with an invisible flashlight. The other section is what looks like a lab with various animals that have escaped from the zoo you'd expect to find. These are, essentially, regular pets you'd find in most houses back home. You can remove the animals with a laser or a concussion grenade. A well-placed concussion grenade may stun the monkey or trigger the machine-gun of the large ferret. There are two different cats: a lioness and a short-faced cat. A lioness is a powerful beast but an incapacitated one. A short-faced cat, on the other hand, is a very deadly beast but a bit fragile. The final beast
