A: In general, there is no way to do so, because the sub type is not determined by the object itself (it is determined by the type of the creator object). You could create a non-generic class like this public static class TypeInfoProvider { public static TypeInfo Provider = new TypeInfo(typeof(string)); } And then use it like so Type t = TypeInfoProvider.Provider; That way you can get a TypeInfo of the object you want. You can find details about the TypeInfo class here. A: This is the shortest method that I have found to get the Type of a variable. Type type = obj.GetType(); Example class Program { static void Main(string[] args) { List list = new List(); list.Add(0); Type type = list.GetType(); } } A: It depends on the type of the list. For a generic list Type aListType = list.GetType(); Q: Insert a new line in Outlook html body using o365api I tried the code below outlook.Conversation.HTMLBody += 'My New paragraph' But it add the paragraph in the new line. How can I add the new line? A: To add a new line ( ) in your Outlook HTMLBody 6d1f23a050
