I tried doing pip install python

but it tells me that the module is not installed.
(python:5784): Gtk-WARNING : Unable to locate theme engine in module_path: "murrine", I am not sure what else to try. How do I fix this error? Thanks A: @Gato wrote some instructions on the topic here. From the looks of it, you need to enable the installer option in the python-mode config, which points to his website. Q: Get x86 assembly if running on x64 JVM I'm trying to debug code running on a JVM, on x64 Linux. So I'm using nasm to assemble code on Linux and objdump on Windows.

objdump -D -m i386... works, but only for x86 instructions. objdump -S -M intel x86-64... won't work for Intel syntax, as the assembly code is for x64, not for x86. When I'm debugging code compiled with g++, I can use -m32 but it doesn't work with g++ -S -masm=intel. Do you know any solution? A: The solution is to use the objdump -b binary option. It doesn't only output binary executables, but also the ARM and the MIPS assemblers. Thanks everyone! Search If you haven't noticed by now, I'm a big fan of psilocybin mushrooms. I think they're the best in terms
