I am trying to set up customer group called 'Executive team'. This group will only have two phones (2FA & Business) with the feature The first phone number must be an emergency and must be accessible from outside of the office. The business number must also be accessible to the IT department and any other departments that need to contact the business owner. When creating a new customer I add an emergency phone number, but it doesn't show up in the user account area (I have also tried creating a dummy customer with the same phone number and it doesn't show up there either). Is it possible to do this? How can I assign a phone number to a customer? A: What I ended up doing is adding a phone number in the account settings (customer information) while registering a new user. This study is a multidisciplinary, longitudinal investigation of the effects of abstinence from alcohol on the neural systems involved in mood regulation. The long-term goals of this research are to understand the neurophysiological basis of negative affect and to use that knowledge to develop new and effective treatment strategies for depression. Twenty individuals with a history of depression who are presently abstinent from alcohol and 20 healthy control subjects will undergo functional MRI scans at baseline and after two weeks of abstinence and again after four weeks of abstinence. Existing data from the investigators' studies of
